

Audience Askew Literary Journal

Submission Agreement

To be accepted during the submission process.

“If any of my submitted stories or artwork is accepted by Nat 1 LLC, I agree to allow them to be used in an issue of Audience Askew Literary Journal, to put on their company website and/or newsletter, and once published grant them the right to continue hosting the Work so long as I am properly credited for its creation. I permit the House to perform minor grammatical and typographical edits to conform my submission to the journal's standards, but no significant changes may be made without my consent. I retain the copyright of the Work and the characters, and have no limitation on when or where I may publish/post/comment/tweet them in the future. If Audience Askew was the first to publish the Work, I agree to give credit to the journal that they were the first to publish the Work should it be published again.”
